LIBERALS RELEASE NEW PLAN AIMED AT STOPPING ILLEGAL BOAT ARRIVALS TO AUSTRALIA

Tiny Rabbit models our new National dress

NEW NATIONAL DRESS TO BE ADOPTED

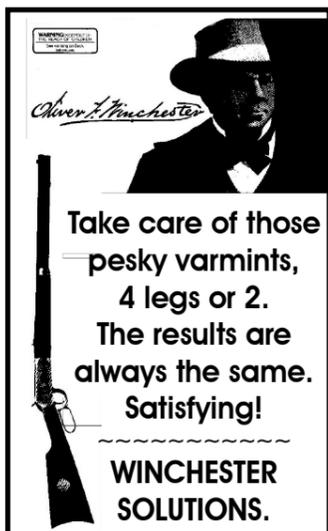

Canberra - Sat. Oct. 12, 2013

In a move that is sure to be an outstanding success, Liberal party leaders have announced the new Australian National Dress Code, which will become mandatory for all new arrivals to Australia from 2014.

The 'Budgie Bikini', as it will be known as, is to be worn at all times, from casual to formal evening wear.

The idea, first spawned in the mind of our noble Prime Minister, Tiny Rabbit, is planned to reduce the flow of boat people to this country in great numbers.

The code, which will be retrospectively activated, is expected to increase the number of boat people leaving Australia to get back to their own countries as soon as possible.

Take care of those pesky varmints, 4 legs or 2. The results are always the same. Satisfying!

DID YOU KNOW?

The Colt Peacemaker, the weapon that became known as "the gun that won the West" was a .45-caliber manufactured by Colt's Fire Arms Manufacturing Company in Hartford, Connecticut in 1873. At the time it sold for $17.00.

Samuel Clemens, struck by silver fever, tried his hand at prospecting in the town of Unionville, Nevada in 1862. Having more luck in trading mining claims than actually producing silver, he wound up leaving the area. A short time latter Clemens, changes his name to Mark Twain and becomes one of the greatest writers of American Literature.

Though the term "stick 'em up" is widely used in Western films, it wasn't actually coined until the 1930's.

Texas was the most active gunfighting state, with some 160 shoot-outs from the 1850's through the 1890's.

On December 21, 1876, Clay Allison shot and killed Deputy Sheriff Charles Faber at the Olympic Dance Hall in Las Animas, Colorado. If it weren't for Allison purposely stomping on the feet of other dancers, the law probably would never have been called.
