BARNUM & BAILEY IN BID TO TAKE CONTROL OF U. S. ELECTIONS

CIRCUS BOSSES SEE MONEY TO BE MADE IN VENTURE

Washington October 31, 2016 -

In a press release issued today, it was announced that the Barnum and Bailey company would be making a move to secure the U.S. Elections and take over its control from the government.

It is believed that should the bid succeed, Barnum and Bailey would then be in control of possibly the biggest circus ever created.

A spokesman for the company said that a deal like this is a once in a lifetime chance and the circus group are very keen to get signatures to paper as soon as possible.

The main attraction of the deal for the company is the acquisition of so many clowns that are normally involved in these elections.

"It's truly unbelievable that there are so many clowns, but I guess that's politics" stated the B & B spokesman.

U.S. Congressman, Ivan Tahkloo, admitted that the elections would be better off in the hands of the circus and the sooner, the better.

When asked about the future of the donkey and the elephant, Mr. Tahkloo said that they would be part of the deal with Barnum and Bailey.

Senior circus officials with Barnum and Bailey have some reservations as to whether they could put these two animals to any positive use.

"It appears that they're both pretty useless and slow to learn anything" a spokesman for B & B said.

"They certainly would never be suitable for any type of work, especially when you need to get things done in a hurry", he said.

"If we had our way, we'd euthanize them both if we were allowed to".

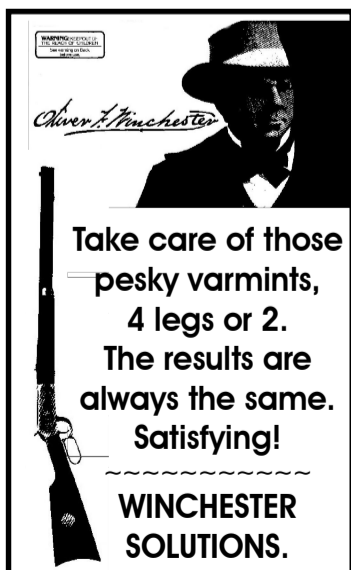

A White House spokesman, who preferred to remain anonymous, stated that the proposal from Barnum and Bailey was something that the White House fully supported and was throwing its full weight behind the deal.

"This would go a long way in getting the 20 trillion dollar debt down, but more importantly, the money could instead go towards more military spending", he stated.

"It was only last week that we became aware of at least 5 countries that we haven't invaded yet and given them a chance to experience freedom and democracy, whether they liked it or not" the spokesman said.

Meanwhile, popcorn and soda sales around the globe have reached new record levels as people around the world sit back and enjoy this great comedy show that luckily, only comes around once every 3 to 4 years.

DID YOU KNOW?

1- During the Wild West days in Billings, Montana, the cowboys and scarlet ladies of every saloon performed impossible dances atop bars, tables, and in some instances upon atop the pianos.

2- Wyatt Earp once operated a saloon in Nome, Alaska. In the late 1890's U.S. Marshal Albert Lowe slapped an intoxicated Earp and took his gun away after Wyatt threatened to demonstrate how guns were handled "down Arizona way."

3- About 1/3 of all gunmen died of "natural causes," living a normal life span of 70 years or so. Of those who did die violently (shot or executed), the average age of death was 35. The gunfighters-turned-lawmen lived longer lives than their persistently criminal counterparts.
